

Kayla Mohammadi

Biography

Kayla Mohammadi received her BFA in painting from the University of Washington in 1998 and her MFA in 2002 from Boston University. In 2005 she was awarded the Ludwig Vogelstein Foundation Grant; in 2003 the Blanche E. Colman Award, Mellon Bank; and in 2000-2002 she was the recipient of the Constantin Alajalov Scholarship.

2006-2007 exhibitions include:

Chicago Art Fair; Johnson State College, Johnson, VT; Marist College, A Place for the Genuine: 5 Abstract Women Painters; Gallery 170, New Work, Damariscotta, Maine; Center for Maine Contemporary Art, Biennial Juried Exhibition and CMCA's Print Show, Rockport, ME; Rose Art Museum, Spot-On, Brandeis University's Studio Art Faculty Exhibition, Waltham, ME, and Creative Arts Workshop Group, New Haven, CT. Her prints have recently been shown at the University of Denver's Victoria Mehren Gallery, Marist College, and currently at the Capitol Building in Augusta, ME.

Currently she is a visiting Art Lecturer at Brandeis University in Waltham, Ma. She has also taught at Massachusetts College of Art, and the University of Massachusetts in Boston, and The Fogg Art Museum at Harvard University.